40 YEARS OF HISTORY

Teledata has been designing and manufacturing safety electronic devices for 40 years. In the early years, the company started its business manufacturing ad hoc electronic solutions for aerospace applications for national and foreign leader companies. This allowed the know-how of the company to achieve the highest levels in cutting-edge electronics sector.

During this period the company widened its horizons developing specific solutions for the safety field, which in the early eighties occupied a market in which no standard solution existed.

Over the years, Teledata continued investing in the safety field combining system design with large-scale manufacturing of high technological content. The company continued with the design and manufacturing of electronic devices, while constantly generating and increasing the value chain benefiting the final customers.

Teledata today offers a self production range of safety system, fire prevention and video surveillance products; it has an important presence on the international market, and gives an important contribution to export the Made in Italy excellence. The company participates in several national and international work committees sharing experience, necessiteses, goals, actions and values to have previews and perspectives for tomorrow's market.
